

ISSUP Newsletter: Issue 2

Welcome back! This week ISSUP staff attended the 60th Session of the Commission on Narcotic Drugs (CND) in Vienna. Check out our news story on the event below to learn more about the session. This edition also features a new alcohol awareness tool that was launched by Ireland's public health service last week, as well as a piece of research that examines the effect of drug prevention programmes on participants' friends.

Head over to our website for more of the latest information from the fields of drug prevention and treatment, including a timely news story that raises concerns over the need to provide budding health care professionals with more pre-service opportunities to learn about substance use disorders, alongside research that links high-contact sports with an increased risk of heroin and prescription opioid use.

Thanks so much to all of you who completed our survey! We have received many interesting responses that we'll use to make our website more valuable to you.
