

ISSUP Newsletter: Issue 20

Last week ISSUP's Acting Executive Director, Joanna Travis-Roberts, visited Nairobi for a series of meetings undertaken along with Alan Piracha from the U.S. Department of State's Bureau of International Narcotics and Law Enforcement Affairs (INL), Jane Marie Ong'Olo from the African Union and Evans Oloo, President of the ISSUP Kenya Chapter.

ISSUP is exploring the potential to hold its 2018 ISSUP Workshop in Nairobi, and the visit allowed for ideas to form and planning to begin. During the week the group met with a series of potential partners and visited a number of venue options.

Joanna said: 'We had a fruitful and exciting week in Nairobi, which proved itself to be a very welcoming and well placed city to hold an international event such as the ISSUP Workshop. The meetings with partners were full of ideas and potential, and I am very much looking forward to continuing our discussions around the event. ISSUP was extremely well hosted by our friends in Kenya, thank you to everyone who met with us and the delegation for working with me.'
