

ISSUP Newsletter: Issue 42

Welcome to our newsletter! We have been incredibly busy on the run up to the NACADA, ISSUP and African Union Drug Demand Reduction Conference & Workshop. The event will include presentations from prominent professionals from around the world, plenary sessions, training workshops and side events covering a wide range of topics in the field of substance use prevention, treatment and recovery. Please visit our website now for more information and registration details.

In other news, our Communications & Research Manager, Livia Edegger, has recently spent an action-packed week in Chile attending the successful launch of ISSUP Chile. With the support of the host organisation La Sociedad de Neurología, Psiquiatría y Neurocirugía de Chile (SONEPSYN), it is hoped that a robust network, promoting the professionalisation of the workforce, will continue to develop within the country.

In this edition, we also feature the third edition of the Field Guide to Drug Demand Reduction Programme Development. The Guide, which has recently been published by the U.S. Department of State's Bureau of International Narcotics and Law Enforcement Affairs (INL), includes updates on programmes, various tools that can be used to assess a country's demand reduction system and information on global networks and coalitions.
