

ISSUP Newsletter - Issue 132: September 7, 2022

View this email in your browser

Welcome! In our first newsletter of September 2022 we are thrilled to present two recently published pieces of research and some very interesting resources and events to explore. We hope you enjoy it!

New Research on Substance Use and the Role of Families

Congratulations to our colleagues on having their research accepted and published in the 2/2022 edition of Addictology Journal. The paper Substance Use and the Role of Families: Results of a Cross-Country Study in Pakistan, Kazakhstan, and Ukraine makes an important contribution to the evidence-base on the role of family in supporting those with substance use disorders. Read it here: Addictology (PDF)

Support for People with SUD in Ukraine: Desk Review

The war in Ukraine has led to the country's health system functioning at greatly reduced capacity. A recently published desk study by ITTC Ukraine analyses the current state of provision of special medical care and support services to people with substance use disorder. Read it here: ISSUP

Connecting the workforce with ISSUP Networks

To enable collaboration in the digital space, the ISSUP website acts as a focal point to connect the global substance use workforce. This article explains how our Networks facilitate communication and the sharing of knowledge between ISSUP members in a virtual setting: ISSUP

Supporting Children and Youth Reading List

To celebrate International Youth Day on the 12th of August 2022, ISSUP Czech Republic teamed up with UNODC to present a webinar on 'Supporting the health, happiness and safety of children' with a particular focus on the Listen First initiative.
